Eminent Cantor Joins In Israel Observance Here

Eugene Goldberger Featured As Independence Day Marked By Jews

Cantor Eugene Goldberger of Adath Israel Congregation, Montreal, was enthusiastically received by a capacity audience of 250 persons at gala celebrations of Yam Atzmaut, Independence Day of the State of Israel, held last evening in the vestry of Shaarei Zadek Synagogue in Saint John.

At the conclusion of each selection, the noted Cantor was received with standing applause.

The program, marking the fifth anniversary of the Independence of the State of Israel, was opened with the showing of two Israeli films. A. Calp, Maritime general chairman of the Jewish National Fund, gave a brief address of welcome and introduced the Cantor.

In his first group of selections, Cantor Goldberger sang a Hebrew selection, Shubert's Serenade in Jewish and two encores in Jewish.

Rabbi A. Green of congregation Shaarei Zadek, then spoke briefly on the five years of Israel's statehood. Assisted by Rev. E. Slotki, Rabbi Green offered a prayer for the welfare of the State of Israel.

Mitchell S. Bernstein, national vice-president of the Zionist Organization of Canada, extended his personal greetings and wishes for the success of celebrations, and those of his organization.

Among the visitors to the celebrations was Rabbi L. Nejuct of Moncton, who spoke briefly on the importance of the celebrations.

Mr. Calp delivered a message with regard to the importance of the Jewish National Fund in the building of the State of Israel, and asked those present for their continued support of this work.

Cantor Goldberger sang three additional selections, one Hebrew selection, O Sole Mio in Hebrew, and Mattinatta by Leoncavello, and was called on to render an encore. Dr. Samuel Milrod was accompanist at the piano.

CCL Head Notes Increased Barriers To Labor's Pleas

Fears Position Of Labor Movement May Deteriorate

Increasing resistance of employers to labor's demands for higher wages, shorter hours and fringe benefits was noted by A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, in an address at a banquet in the Admiral Beatty Hotel that wound up the two-day session of the second Saint John and District Union Institute last night.

"I hope I am not being over-pessimistic," said Mr. Mosher, "but I am afraid that before long pools of unemployed will be strengthening the position of industry, and that the position of the Canadian labor movement may deteriorate." Should this happen, he said, organized labor would be itself to blame for not having "fittingly met the challenge."

Mr. Mosher said that labor did not expect governments "to play the rule of Santa Claus. We don't want handouts and special privileges. But we certainly do want all that the exploitation of our great national resources will give us, with special favors to none.

"Poverty is not warranted in Canada," said Mr. Mosher. "There is no necessity for poor housing, nor for lack of medical and hospital facilities for all the people. It is quite true that Canada has the second highest standard of living in the world, but there is still much to do desired. In addition, we have the resources to meet these desires.

"This country has all the materials, and all the competent labor, to build all the homes that are required. The reason we are not getting them is because homes are not being built because they are needed, but only when and where it is profitable to build them."

But merely to wish for a high standard of living, said Mr. Mosher, was not good enough. Organized labor must train itself to meet its responsibilities, and in co-operation with industry and other spheres of national life seek to find permanent solutions to our problems.

The banquet brought to an end two days of an intensive program of lectures and round-table discussion designed to keep leaders of local trades unions abreast with problems of industrial relations and trades union leadership. W. K. Craig, chairman of the Saint John District Labor Council, presided.

Annual Service Held By Society

The annual church service of the St. George's Society, held last night at Trinity Church, was well attended. Among those present were Lieutenant-Governor D. L. MacLaren, Ernest W. Patterson, mayor of Saint John, and Thomas B. Horsler, mayor of Lancaster, and their respective city councils and members of the IODE.

The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. Dr. Arthur E. Coleman, assisted by Canon C. Leroi Moores and Rev. H. O. Slattery.

Dr. Coleman took his text from the passage "Put on the whole armor of God" citing that challenge to be as strong today as the day it was given. He also called upon the members to hold high the standards which made England and St. George great.

The lesson was read by the society's president, F. C. Mortimer.

Among those present were A. G. Watt, president of the St. Andrew's Society; F. S. Lewell, president of the Sons of England, and Commander John MacKinnon, representing HMCS Brunswicker. Music was under the direction of Miss Ruth L. Clarke, ARCO, Mus. Bac.

The annual banquet of the St. George's Society will be held Thursday, St. George's Day, at the Admiral Beatty Hotel.

ENTERTAINMENT HELD FOR BLIND

Swingsters Stage Varied Program At Hazen Street Recreation Centre

The Swingsters group of entertainers were warmly greeted at the Canadian National Institute for the Blind Recreation Centre, 50 Hazen Street, for the semi-monthly entertainment sponsored by the CNIB Auxiliary. They furnished excellent music throughout the evening. Their fine program on a previous occasion had won for them many friends. Bob Poley, leader of the group, was master of ceremonies and Miss Mildred Henderson was pianist. Prior to the program Bruce Erb spoke feelingly of the passing of Charles E. Sellen, one of the CNIB members. Two minutes silent tribute and the singing of an appropriate hymn paid honor to Mr. Sellen's memory. Mrs. Roy Henderson, president of the Auxiliary, welcomed the entertainers and the blind with their escorts.

The program opened with several selections by the band. Bob Poley was heard in several vocal numbers, Wes Cosman contributed trombone solos. There were also trios and quartet selections by other members of the band. The band was composed of Bob Poley, Wes Cosman, Ray Hagerman and Marty Gallagher. Miss Mildred Henderson responded to requests for piano selections. Bruce Erb and Mrs. A. L. Crosby, convener for entertainment, contributed jokes and stories. Mrs. Sarah Burns entertained with humorous vocal numbers and played her own accompaniment. Edward Riley sang two request numbers. Mrs. William Stafford and Mrs. George H. Brown gave humorous readings. The program concluded with the band responding to a request number which was much enjoyed.

Bruce Erb, on behalf of the audience, thanked the entertainers. Refreshments were served with Mrs. William McAdam and Mrs. E. P. Dean, conveners, assisted by members of the auxiliary. The next entertainment sponsored by the auxiliary will be on May 7.

CLUB'S WINTER SERVICE IS HELD

Power Boat Membership Also Stages 'All Hands On Deck' Party

Exceptionally large attendances at two week-end events of the Saint John Power Boat Club were noted today as indications of a particularly "big" season for the club this summer. The official opening of the season, incidentally, is scheduled for late in May, following the completion of launching operations set to get under way on May 1.

Last night members and their friends gathered at St. Luke's Church, where the evening service took the form of the annual winter church service of the club, conducted by Rev. Gordon W. Philpotts, church rector and the club's chaplain. The interior was appropriately decorated for the occasion with international code flags, provided by George E. Holder and portions of the service were devoted to the special occasion.

Mr. Philpotts took as his text "Wherefore, sirs, be of good cheer, I believe in God," and the lesson was read by the club commodore, Harold Peer.

On Saturday evening, the club held its third, and most successful, "all hands on deck" party of the winter season, with the clubhouse at Marble Cove filled to capacity. Dancing and a floor show were features of the evening and refreshments were served at the close.

The entertainers, under the direction of Mrs. William Truffen, included Lorna Scott, attired in a "beautiful doll" costume, who performed a tapdance routine; Pamela Brown and Linda Calvin in a "Tea for Two" dance routine; Katrina Truffen and Rosalie Day in a variety of dances; Joan White and Sharon Calvin in a "Swanee River" number and Miss Dorothy Hazelwood, presenting a spectacular fast tap series. Brilliant lighting effects were provided by Cecil Beesley.

In view of the interest of all attending, a similar function has been planned to coincide with the opening of the 1953 season, it has been announced.

GUILD PLANS SALE

Plans were completed at the monthly meeting of the Missionary Guild of Coburg Street Christian Church for the holding of a rummage sale on May 20, in the Glad Tidings Hall. Mrs. Ernest W. Izzard was named convener of the event. The vice-president, Mrs. William Cave, presided. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Walter McChuskey. Accompanist during the evening was Mrs. Robert Stevenson.

For Amusement Only

Mr. Monahan and Mr. Nelson, defense witnesses, told the court that the machine in question was purely for amusement purposes. "The plunger", they said, sent the balls up the board and according to the amount of pressure applied, the path of the ball was determined around the raceway.

Mr. Monahan chalked up a score of 400,000 on his first game and on a second try obtained the total of 390,000. He told the court the machine was a contrivance that in no way contributed to the spread of crime.
