Germany Arrests Two More Friars

Kassel, Germany, May 29.—(AP)—Two more Roman Catholic monks have been arrested in Germany charged with smuggling money to the Netherlands, it was announced Tuesday.

While 48 nuns and monks await trial by the court which passed penitentiary sentences against nuns May 17 and May 22, secret police raided two Franciscan friars.

Frog Season Open Saturday, June 1

Lansing, May 29.—Bullfrogs and frogs of other varieties will become legal game in Michigan next Saturday. The open season on frogs continues to Oct. 31.

Frogs may be speared without the use of artificial light. Artificial light may be used, however, if frogs are being taken by any means other than the spear.

COUGHLIN MAY NOT USE SOLDIER FIELD

Chicago Park Commissioners Demur at Priest's Talking There.

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—Fr. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest, will have to use facilities other than Soldier field when he speaks here June 12, the Chicago park commission indicated Tuesday night.

Coughlin had scheduled the meeting in behalf of the National Union of Social Justice.

A request by E. J. Steiner, Fr. Coughlin's representative, for use of the field was presented to the commission by Evan I. Kelly, chief of the special events division, who said Steiner would make a personal request at a later hearing.

President Robert J. Dunham immediately objected.

"I would recommend that before Mr. Steiner is permitted to discuss this matter the commissioners determine as a matter of policy whether under any consideration they would permit the use of the facilities of the Chicago park district for dissemination of propaganda on political and economic subjects of a controversial nature," he said.

"I am prepared to recommend against such permits."

"Expected Refusal."

Detroit, May 29.—(AP)—The National Union for social Justice will hold its Illinois rally June 12 as planned "despite action of the Chicago park commission in refusing us Soldiers field," Fr. Charles E. Coughlin said Tuesday night.

"We had another place in mind anyway," Coughlin asserted. "I just wanted to give them a chance to refuse us. They've done that and I shall talk about their action next Sunday.

PLAN CELEBRATION AT JOHNSON PARK

Wyoming Park and Beverly Will Join in Event on July 4.

Plans for a community July 4 celebration at Johnson park, near Grandville, are being made by Wyoming Park and Beverly firemen's drill and business men, under chairmanship of George W. Hall.

An all-day program is being prepared, including ball games, music, speeches and contests, ending with a fireworks display in the evening. Leonard Gamzel is chairman of the concessions committee. It is expected 15,000 to 20,000 persons will attend, the affair being open to all within a radius of 20 miles. Large numbers from Grandville, Hudsonville, Zeeland, Caledonia, Byron Center, Burton Heights and other communities, as well as from Wyoming Park and Beverly, are expected.

Four Plant Looters Draw Prison Terms

Flint, May 28.—(AP)—Four men who pleaded guilty of complicity in a plot to steal $200,000 worth of parts and materials from General Motors corporation factories, where they were employed here, were under long prison sentences Tuesday.

In pronouncing sentence, Circuit Judge Edward D. Black told the men they had "bitten the hand that fed you."

Roy Long, 27, was sentenced to serve from two to six years; Clarence D. Nelson, 31, from one to four years, and Carl Latting and Elsworth Martin, from one to five years each.

Exit Richberg

Supreme Court's Doom on NIRA Was Likewise Blue Eagle Chief's "Walking Papers."

Washington, May 28.—(IN9)—The speedy retirement of NRA Chief Donald R. Richberg was foreseen Tuesday as a result of the supreme court's decision holding NIRA unconstitutional.

The defeat was a personal blow to Richberg. It was he who forced the issue when other administration forces sought to postpone a test case on NIRA until the law was modified.

A wide-open breach in administration circles was apparent before the case just decided was brought to the bar of the supreme court. So open was this that Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, who argued the gold cases for the government, refused to be associated in the NIRA case.

They Told Him So.

Cummings and other high administration officials pleaded with Richberg to wait. Later, they argued, when the law had been modified, there would be a better opportunity to win the case. Now, they counseled, only confusing defeat was ahead.

To all this Richberg replied that he could win the Schecter so-called "sick chicken case." On that issue, he said, he could go into court and emerge victorious, with the wings of the blue eagle outspread in triumph.

So, when the case came to trial before the highest court in the land, it was Richberg, NIRA chief, who argued, not Cummings.

And so when the blow fell, it fell on Richberg's head. The administration clique that counseled delay won out. Richberg listened to Chief Justice Hughes read the decision and left the courtroom silent, downcast.

There have been persistent reports that Richberg intended to quit any way July 1. Now, it has become a certainty that the young former labor union lawyer will not stay with the government.

Wife of Schechter Rejoices in Verse

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Lillian Schechter, wife of one of the poultry dealer brothers whose code decision over the NRA threw consternation into the New Deal, was so jubilant over her husband's victory that she sat down and indited this ditty:

Now that it's over
No more excuses
For all the nonsense.
With pride and satisfaction
I'm showing my face.

For a long, long time
I've had to be suppressed.
Patriotic remarks made
At our expense.

I'm through with that experience.
And proud again to be
Joseph Schechter's wife.

Holland, May 29.—Ann May, 8, and David, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Diepenhorst of Saugatuck, who disappeared late Monday afternoon, were discovered at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Emma Brooks, in Jenison Park late Tuesday afternoon. The children came there Monday but had not told that their parents did not know of their visit. They were brought to town given a ride by a passing motorist.

RULES P. U. C. MAY CONTROL GAS SALE

But Toy Declares Municipality Involved Must Initiate Petition.

Lansing, May 29.—(AP)—Attorney General Harry S. Toy ruled Tuesday that the state public utilities commission has jurisdiction over rates charged a municipality by any utility concern selling gas.

The opinion was given William M. Smith, chairman of the commission, who had asked regarding proposed changes in the rate schedule of the Detroit City Gas Co., Detroit consumers and 13 Wayne county members of the legislature had asked the commission to hold the company's proposed rate changes in abeyance for 45 days. The company's franchise expired recently.

The attorney general said, however, the petition of the legislators and consumers was insufficient to initiate interference by the commission. He held that the municipality itself must petition for the relief.

The Detroit common council is now involved in litigation with the gas company over street rentals and has notified the commission that it will not petition for a hearing on rates at present.

COUNTY HOME RULE CAMPAIGN IS OPENED

Detroit, May 29.—(INS)—A statewide county home rule educational campaign was launched here Tuesday with a meeting of the Detroit Citizens league.

The league, which advocated the home rule amendment and was defeated at last fall's elections, plans to send out speakers into all counties in Michigan to explain what home rule will mean to each individual county.

"Abolition of the sheriff's office, reduction in the size of the board of supervisors and employment of a county manager, if desired, are among the possible steps under the amendment which will be before the voters in the fall, 1936 also," announced Tuesday. She succeeds Miss Harriet Comstock, who resigned recently. The position carries a salary of $2,500 a year.

SACRIFICE TRICK.

Sometimes a man must be braver to play safe than to take a chance. It is likely to go against the grain of anyone, from an expert to a dub, to give up a trick which could be won merely by playing a little trump. But careful reasoning will often reveal the fact that this sacrifice method pays valuable dividends.

The procedure of obtaining the necessary tricks in the following deal is interesting:

West, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1♡	2◇	Pass	3♣
Pass	3♣	Pass	4♣
Pass	Pass	Pass

South was somewhat disappointed to hear North overcall in diamonds, any other suit he could have supported enthusiastically. But when North immediately supported his spade suit, he had no hesitancy in going to game.

The Play.

West opened his singleton Queen of clubs; the diamond bid guided him away from the King of diamonds, which would probably have been his choice otherwise. The first trick was won with North's club king, and the Queen of diamonds was led, South discarding a heart.

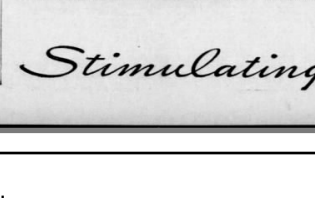
This seems, superficially, like a strange play. South, having no diamonds and two small trumps which are necessary for no other purpose, could easily afford to ruff this lead. But while a trick would thus be won, no foundation would be laid for the future winning of tricks. South preferred to invest, hoping to gather three tricks as a future reward.

After West won the King of diamonds he shifted to a spade. Dummy won this trick and again one of the diamond sequence was led. Again South refrained from trumping, discarding another heart. Again West won the trick. But this was West's last high diamond. The suit was now established.

Nothing now remained for South to do but to lead out his four trumps, then concede a trick to the Ace of hearts. West took his three honor-trick combinations, but nothing else; the dummy was then left with only established winners. Losing only three tricks, South made four-odd.

Hand for Tomorrow.

South, Dealer.
Both side vulnerable.



Watch the exposition of the hand above in our article of tomorrow.
