WOODWARD ENDS ANOTHER TERM

"Nines" Feature Closing Exersises With Dramatization of Greek Olympics.

Another year has closed for the children of the Woodward School. Five of these years have been spent at the present location, 321 Clinton ave.

For the past two years the children of the various older groups have been dramatizing parts of their work for the benefit of the other members of the school, for parents and for friends.

The seven-years-old children played "The Harbor" and gave a vivid representation of the varied and colorful activities of the waterfronts of Manhattan and Brooklyn, which they have been studying this year. The eight-year-olds presented a Dutch Kermis (or fair) based on their experiences this year as early Dutch settlers in New Amsterdam.

The 10's and the 11's published a special edition of their weekly newspaper, the Woodward News, as their contribution to the closing festivities. This was issued on the last day of school. The 12's gave a play called "Yellow Fever in Panama," written by their teacher, Mrs. Welch, and based on the struggle in the Canal Zone to rid the area of yellow fever.

The 13's chose a W. D. Howells' play from their literature studies, called "The Sleeping Car." The 14's gave parts of "She Stoops to Conquer."

As a feature of the closing exercises the nines presented the last of these dramatizations—a presentation of the Greek Olympic games—given out of doors. Following the "games" all adjourned to the dining room for the final dinner of the year, a party affair for the children, the faculty and the mothers of the 12 young people being graduated this year. Mothers invited were Mrs. A. Stedman Jameson, Mrs. Charles K. Drury, Mrs. H. K. Reynolds, Mrs. Francis J. Ryan, Mrs. Nelson Sprackling, Mrs. Robert F. Walmsley, Mrs. W. H. Lohman, Mrs. Warner King, Mrs. Waldo Sellow, Mrs. Helen Quinn and Mrs. Albert Thunig.

ASSASSINS FRUSTRATED

Concordia, Argentina, May 31.—Travelers from Uruguay reported today the frustration of a plot to assassinate President Gabriel Terra. They reported numerous arrests, including prominent members of the opposition. Abelardo Vescobi, civil prosecutor and former chief of police of Montevideo, was mentioned as leader of the plot.

Your Home Garden

By I. GEORGE QUINT

Requests have been made by nearly a score of readers in the past week for information about plants suitable for edging purposes.

Dean Halliday, Central Press garden expert, has written an article that covers the problem, specifically, and his suggestions are qouted here as the answer to queries:

"Every year there is the same problem to be settled: What plants are to be used for edging? Much depends on whether or not you are planning for a certain color scheme or whether the garden is formal or informal.

Informal Plan Easier

"It is far easier to plan for the informal garden., for the range of plant material which can be used is large. The formal garden presents a more carefully planned edging, for it must be one which can be kept trimmed and neat in appearance, therefore, the texture of the foliage must be considered more than the flower.

"In the informal garden or the herbaceous border one can use groupings of perennials for the very earliest bloom, and then add annuals to carry the bloom up into frost.

"Most of the early blooming perennials are dwarf in size, so there is a large group of plants from which to choose, including forget-me-nots, the earliest of veronicas, a white variety, Primula Cashmereana, a lavender, blooming even before the early yellow.

Interesting Groupings

"Groupings of grape hyacinths and scillas are interesting. Violas, dwarf bleeding heart, dwarf iris, blue phlox subulata and violets, all give the earliest of bloom which can be followed by groups of allyssum goldentuft, rockcress, grass pinks, dwarf blue veronicas and the lovely ivory white dwarf columbine.

"There are several low growing dianthus and many sedums. The hardy verbenas are lively, either venosa or veitchii. Campanulas garganica and anemone pulsatilla are very effective.

"To this border edge can be added many low growing annuals such as lobelia, annual ageratum, pansies, petunias, candytuft, nasturtium, verbenas, California poppy, dwarf marigold, to carry the bloom right up to the time of frost."

THREATENS TO BLIND WIFE OF NRA FOE

Mrs. Schechter Replies to Leter in Poem.

Joseph Schechter, of 257 Brighton Beach ave., one of the four poultry dealer brothers whose defense to prosecution under the NRA resulted in their vindication by the Supreme Court and the decision that the NRA had been adopted illegally, acknowledged last night that his wife had received a threatening letter from some NRA adherent.

The writer, who couched his threat in Yiddish, threatened to "dig out" Mrs. Schechter's eyes "for breaking the NRA" and inclosed in his letter a photograph of Mrs. Schechter in which the eyes had been punched out. Mrs. Schechter had not taken the threat seriously and had written a reply in verse, which follows:

WHY BLAME US?

Success bears enmity
This we all know
As our case
Will clearly show,

For while we get
Handshakes and wishes,
We also get curses
And hisses.

It was the Supreme Court
That gave the decision;
So why blame us
For their disillusion?

Schechter said he thought the dispatch of the letter was cowardly but said he expected more such threats.

TREE MEMORIALIZES DR. J. G. WILLIAMS

Planted at St. Mary's Clinic to Honor "Peace Hero."

On the lawn of St. Mary's Hospital, St. Marks and Buffalo aves., a Japanese cherry tree was planted yesterday by the medical board of the hospital, honoring as a "peace hero" Dr. John G. Williams, whose life was shortened by his devotion to experiments with the x-ray in cancer treatments.

Dr. Williams, who died at 54, spent his entire career at the hospital, becoming interested in x-ray work and later in the use of radium, following his interneship and a brief period of general practise.

His daughter, Miss Angela Williams, turned the first spade of earth yesterday. His widow also attended the ceremony held under the joint auspices of the hospital and the Commission of International Justice and Goodwill of the Brooklyn Church and Mission Federation.

A floral wreath was placed at the base of the tree in behalf of the commission, the presentation address being made by the chairman, the Rev. Phillips Packer Elliott of the First Presbyertian Church.

Roman Catholics and Protestants were present. The commission of the federation, composed entirely of Protestants, started this annual peace hero ceremony on Memorial Day four years ago.

Other speakers were the Rev. J. Henry Carpenter, secretary of the federation; the Rev. John E. Ryan of the faculty of Cathedral College, Dr. William V. Pascual, senior surgeon, and Sister Marie Jeanne, mother superior of the Sisters of Charity at the hospital.

Dr. John Shields, member of the executive committee of the medical board, presided.

All praised the work of Dr. Williams in the fight on cancer.

German Brewers Here for Tour

A party of 105 German brewers and persons engaged in the brewing industry is arriving here today aboard the S. S. Deutschland, of the Hamburg-American Line, in command of Captain H. Dau, when the ship docks at Pier 84, foot of West 44th st., from Hamburg, Southampton and Cherbourg.

The group will make an extensive tour of the country as far west as Milwaukee and as far south as St. Louis, visiting the principal brewing centers as well as points of interest in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Washington and Philadelphia.

An unusually large collection of animals is also coming on the Deutschland and includes two young Indian elephants each a year and a half old, destined for zoos in St. Louis and Cincinnati; three young polar bears from Norway, one pair of South American manatees (sea cows), and a giant armadillo.

Cole Porter With New Ideas

Cole Porter, composer of "You're the Top," "Night and Day" and other song hits, arrives today aboard the Cunard White Star liner Franconia, returning from a five and one-half months' cruise around the world. Porter is accompanied by Moss Hart. It is said they had picked up several new ideas for Broadway shows.

Royalty aboard the Franconia includes: Her Royal Highness Princess de Briganza, Duchess of Oporto, and the Baroness Carola von Ompteda.

Quartermaster Huettmann Honored

The distinguished service medal of the United States Lines for valor in the performance of duty, was presented yesterday to Quartermaster William Huettmann, of the liner President Harding by Kermit Roosevelt, vice president of the line, at a ceremony on the vessel.

The board of directors voted the bestowal of the decoration on Huettmann in recognition of his courageous act on Sept. 18, 1934, when the President Harding was sailing from Hamburg for the United States. Miss Anna Seehauser, who was waving to departing friends, fell between the pier and the moving vessel. Without hesitation, the quartermaster, who was on gangplank duty, jumped into the water, and kept the woman afloat until they could be hauled to safety.

COUNCIL NAMES 2 BORO WOMEN

Mrs. Arons and Mrs. Spitzer Head Committees Under National Organization.

Two Brooklyn women today were named as committee heads in the new administrative set-up of the National Council of Jewish Women, by Mrs. Arhtur Brin, national president of the council. They are Mrs. Abraham H. Arons and Mrs. Benjamin Spitzer, both former presidents of the Brooklyn section of the council.

In accordance with resolutions passed at the recent triennial convention of the council in New Orleans, three managing committees and three special project committees have been established by Mrs. Brin.

To Guide Social Service

Heading the new section service committee is Mrs. Jules Hart, of Yonkers, N. Y., former president of the New York State Conference of the National Council. The program research committee, which will work in conjunction with Mrs. Mrs. Hart's committee in guiding the social service work of the 200 sections of the council is headed by Mrs. Arons, who has long been a member of the National Board of Directors. The third managing unit, the membership committee, is headed by Mrs. Jacob Loeb Langsdorf, of Philadelphia, who retains the post she has held for three years. The new committee will serve for three years until the next triennial convention in 1938.

To assist the managing committees with special projects Mrs. Brin named three special committees. Mrs. Spitzer, also a member of the National Board of Directors, heads a new unit for Jewish education of the pre-school child. Mrs. Maurice L. Goldman, first vice president and chairman of the executive committee, heads the committee on contemporary Jewish affairs, an adeult education project. A new committee to deal with the German-Jewish refugee problem will have Mrs. Julius Wolff of the New York section as chairman.

First Term as Director

Mrs. Spitzer has been a member of the Brooklyn section for 15 years and was its president from 1930 to 1933. She is also a member of the executive committee of the women's division of the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities. This is her first term as a member of the board of directors of the council. She was educated at Packer Institute, Collegiate Institute and the Damrosch Institute of Musical Art. She is an accomplished pianist.

Mrs. Arons, who is also vice chairman of the national executive committee, has given long and valued service to the council in both local and national fields. She attended her first meeting of the organization in Brooklyn in 1909 and a year later was elected a member of the board of directors of the Brooklyn section. The succeeding year she became vice president, serving seven years in that capacity. In 1918 the section elected her to the presidency and again she served for seven years. Upon her retirement from the presidency in 1925 she became a board member, serving for four years as chairman of the Jeannette L. Arons Scholarship Fund, and four years as local chairman of peace.

BRIDE HANGS HERSELF

18-Year-Old Wife and Mate Had Quarreled.

The body of Mrs. Theresa Malinowsky, 18-year-old bride of two months, was found yesterday by her husband, John Malinowsky, hanging from a transom in an unoccupied apartment adjoining their own at 213 Heyward st.

Detective Joseph McDonough of the Clymer st. station, investigated the death and reported it a suicide. The husband and wife had quarreled earlier in the morning, he reported, and the husband left the apartment. He returned soon after noon and discovered the tragedy.

Political Notes

By JOHN F. GEIS

TOE HOLD IN KINGS CO. FOR KING MACY HENCHMEN

An interesting political news item comes from Robert Mitchell, formerly vice president of the Brighton Beach Republican Club. It tells of the organization of the W. Kingsland Macy Republican Club of the Second A. D. Mr. Mitchell says he hopes to convince "all the members of the Brighton Beach Republican Club that they should become members of the Macy club." He states that of the members of the new club participating in the organization thereof, "a majority were under 30 years of age and of these a number were first voters." Temporary officers selected were:

President, Robert Mitchell; first vice president, Morris L. Moskovits; second vice president, Frank Gritland; secretary, Al Levinson; treasurer, Milton Silverstein; corresponding secretary, William Witkin; sergeant-at-arms, Al Warshaw.

Mr. Mitchell says he hopes to induce City Marshal Jacob Keffler to accept the executive membership of the club. Marshal Koffler was named as one of the Brooklyn members of the Macy-Ziegler organization. A resolution adopted by the meeting named a committee to offer the post to the Marshal, who is coy about being tied up with the Macy-Ziegler forces. However, Mr. Mitchell says:

"Though Mr. Koffler to date hasn't accepted the nomination, he states that he would be justified in accepting same in view of the fact that the present leader, George W. Criss, removed him and all other active Republican captains and workers in the area, from their positions without just cause. I, as well as several of my fellow officers, were among the captains and active workers who were removed. Should Mr. Koffler refuse the position, it will in no way stop the continuance and further growth of this organization."

SON OF HIS FATHER HEADS QUEENS COL. DEMS.

Harold R. Moskovit, national and State president of The Intercollegiate Organizations of America, inducted into office the newly elected officers of the Queens Division of The Intercollegiate Democratic League of New York, Inc., at the Hotel Franklin, 89-05 163d st., Jamaica. The following officers were inducted:

Co-chairman, Lawrence T. Gresser, jr., and Miss Kathleen Kane; vice-chairmen, Philip Limpert and William T. Garvin; financial secretary, William Kelly; assistant financial secretary, George Nadelson; recording secretary, Miss Grace Ja Hoda; assistant recording secretary, Miss Belle Desatnick; corresponding secretary, Miss Teresa Loeb; assistant corresponding secretary, Miss Emma Baglivi; treasurer, Theodore Messer; assistant treasurer, Leonard Natthan; sergeant-at-arms, Michael O'Donnell; director of public relations, Howard Wantuck.

More than 200 members were present at the induction.

Mr. Gresser stated that, "the policy of the Queens Division, is "to teach the voters to vote at every election and to vote intelligently." "Also to band together the collegiate youth of Queens, between the ages of 18 and 35, that they may by their strength demand that the leaders of the Democratic Party allow them to help in the selection of the many candidates for office, that the best person may be elected for that particular office."

According to Mr. Wantuck, "plans are underway for a membership drive to increase the 3,000 members to 6,000 before the fall elections, with the appointment of W. Frank Corson and Miss Sylvia Gross, co-chairmen of the membership committee."

Mr. Moskovit reiterated the determination of his organization, that in some of the counties in the State, where the leaders will not give the young men and women a say in selecting the best candidates for office, they will support the best Democrat running in the primary and even run their own candidates.

It was decided to hold meetings every other Tuesday, and the next meeting will be on Tuesday, June 4, at 8:30 P. M., at the headquarters in the Hotel Franklin.

HONOR KITCHEN WORKERS CANARSIE'S YOUNG G. O. P.

The Young Republican Club of Canarsie, 77 Conklin ave., held its second meeting of the month and the attendance was very encouraging. The various committees and their work were discussed with new plans for the coming month. There were many new members present.

The athletic committee is working hard to get a tennis court in the rear of the club for the use of the members.

The bunco and card party held Wednesday for the benefit of the welfare fund, at the A. L. Building was an exceptional success and the members of the entertainment committee headed by Mrs. Dorothy Meredith were duly congratulated. So, also, were the following assisting committees:

Bunco Punchers—Howard Mason, Mildred Schlanger, June Stevens, Arthur Langenegger, Charles Schulze, Patsy DeBlasi.
Prizes — Rosemary Webster, Florence Budd.
Kitchen Workers—Frances Green, Marie Jacobsen, Mrs. Harry McGrail.
Announcer—Harry McGrail.
Pinochle—Jules Jacobson, Harry Hoffman, William Weigl.
Bridge—Sewall Thall, Olive Webster.
Raffle Money—Eileen Roehl.
Kitchen Money—Mrs. Marion Ostman.
Cloak Room—Bill Gobel, Jim Wright, Rudy Menton, Al Schaaf.

The Young Republican Club of Canarsie holds its meetings every first and third Monday of the month.

"JACK STICKEM," FIGHT MGR. JOHN STABILE, POLITICIAN.

One of the office "boys" looking over our shoulder puns "that club sure is stabilized." He admits reading John Heffernan's column. His reference was to a letter from "Jack Stickem" to our veteran friend, Leonard Wooster, which somehow found its way hither.

Jack's real name is John Stabile, and he has been elected executive member of the Sixth Ave. Democratic Club, of 291 22d st. John Murphy is chairman, Thomas Dunne, president; William Infante, vice president; Michael Lotito, recording secretary; Mitchel Mikulski, financial secretary; Anthony Budnik, treasurer; Michael Nardello, corresponding secretary; Frank Camberiango, sergeant-at-arms; and Benjamin Pietrowski, John Sarra, Ernest Procaccini and Salvatore Tanjillo, trustees.

For years "Jack Stickem" was a fight promoter and manager. Now he is in business at Sixth ave. and 22d st., providing provender for the inner man, and he invites Len "in the immortal words of—oh, somebody or other, 'C'mup'n see m'sometime.'"

"THE MILLS OF THE GODS" GRIND GRAVEL VERY FINE

Secretary Oppenheim of the Independent Voters Association, of Queens County, Inc., with headquarters at 5506 Arnold ave., Maspeth, writes as follows:

"Francis P. Masone, our very youthful executive member is being boosted for the office of Deputy Commissioner of the Department of Gas, Electricity and Water Supply to take the place of Michael R. Iorio. He has been a very active number in Queens politics for the past five years and is very well liked."
